

WINE AND BEVERAGE LIST

Like our food, the wines in this menu are true to their origin, showing nuances and subtleties in flavour that reflect their provenance as well as the passion and ability of the winemakers. Most of them are produced in a sustainable manner, while many are produced from organic (or near-organic) or bio-dynamically grown grapes.

Instead of Sauvignon Blanc or Pinot Grigio, why not try a crisp Muscadet, Grüner Veltliner or one of our many Rieslings? Softer reds like Mac Forbes' Blafränkisch from eastern Austria or the elegant NSW wines complement the more robust dishes on the menu marvellously.

Champagne, of course, goes with everything!

The wines are loosely organised according to grape variety and style and then by their palate-weight: lightest to heaviest.

I hope you have as much fun drinking these wines, as we have serving them to you.

IF YOU LIKE PINOT NOIR...

Soft tannins, bright, fresh acidity and light to medium body..all coupled with texture make the following wines similar to Pinot Noir. The flavour spectrum ranges from cherries - red and dark - to red flowers and spice, along with stony/gravelly notes.

These styles of wine are a perfect accompaniment to some of the meatier dishes on the menu, and every sip will leave you wanting another!

2011 Gamay, Bass Phillip Gippsland VIC 78

Forward fresh berry and plum fruit, some liquorice, spice with firm, fresh acidity, soft mouth-feel and a long clean finish. This comes from one of Australia's earliest-planted Gamay vineyards, and is certainly considered one of Australia's best renditions of this style à la Beaujolais.

2010 Nerello Mascalese, Passopisciaro Sicilia ITALY 92

This ancient variety is native to Sicily and is grown on the slopes of the volcanic Mount Etna on the east of the island. The vineyard altitude ensures the wines have lively acidity, always tasting brisk and fresh on the palate. Slightly firm tannins complement the almost velvety nature of this wine, giving texture and a slight 'chewy' character. Nevertheless, there are lovely floral notes to this wine, along with red cherries and a delicious mineral/herbal edge. A wonderfully complex style that is a great foil to Indian cuisines.

2010 Blaufränkisch, Mac Forbes Burgenland AUSTRIA 68

Made in Austria by curly-haired Melbourne maverick Macgregor Forbes who took inspiration for this wine from his time at the most excellent Muhr-van der Niepoort in the area of Carnuntum in the east of the country, close to the Slovakian border. Unlike traditional Blaufränkisch from this area, this wine shows incredibly delicate tannins (no doubt from foot-treading, as Dirk Niepoort does at his famous Portuguese estate) and soft red fruit. The balance lies in the acidity. Old oak is used to add spicy complexity without giving any overt cedary or smoky notes.

2005 Nebbiolo, Barbaresco DOCG, Gaja Piemonte ITALY 348

Quite possibly one of Italy's greatest wines from the highly respected 'Prince of Piemonte' Angelo Gaja. Nebbiolo's home is here in Barbaresco and it produces wonderfully nuanced, perfumed, somewhat ethereal wines that exude the classic 'roses-and-tar' that everyone thinks of when inhaling them. Firm, fine-grained tannins and juicy acidity balance the savoury, dried floral flavours of this wine. Don't let the pale appearance fool you - this a bold wine that is a baby at almost 10 years old. It shows no signs of shying away - maybe even only coming into its optimal drinking window now and in the coming 5-8 years.
