BIANCO

Torre dei Beati ~ Bianchi Grilli ~ Trebbiano d'Abruzzo Trebbiano / Abruzzo - 2013 11 26

Italy's most planted white variety, trebbiano, more often than not is blended away due to its neutrality. This hand crafted example is an insight into the grapes positive qualities - white peach, chamomile and white pepper. Crisp acidity and low-to-moderate alcohol frame this medium bodied white.

Pieropan ~ La Rocca ~ Soave Classico Garganega / Veneto - 2014 12 30

A Soave of the highest distinction, Pieropan's single vineyard La Rocca expresses garganega at its most vinous due to late picking and barrel aging. This lush, tropical fruited white resembles a crossing between chardonnay and the noble white rhone varieties.

SKIN CONTACT WHITE

☞ Radikon Pinot Grigio / Friuli-Venezia Giulia - 2014 11 27

The late Stanko Radikon championed the long maceration on skins of destemmed white varieties. This pinot grigio is anything but typical - driven by a sweet-and-sour bitter grapefruit palate. It's acidity is a perfect way to stimulate ones appetite or pair with a diverse range of dishes. Bottled unfined, unfiltered and minimal sulphur.

☞ La Stoppa ~ Ageno Malvasia, Ortrugo, Trebbiano / Emilia-Romagna - 2011 11 27

La Stoppa's Ageno is sure to polarise. Having spent 30 days on skins this wine radiates a copper-orange hue. The palate is exotic primarily communicating tart orange citrus and dried spice. Bottled without sulphur from organically managed vineyards this wine will stand up to any dish and satisfy curious palates in search of something new.

ROSSO

☞ Giovanni Rosso ~ La Serra ~ Barolo Nebbiolo / Piedmont - 2012 18 44

A small estate located in Serralunga whose viticulture approach is organically minded. The cru of La Serra in this commune is limestone soil based resulting in an elegant presentation of Barolo - bright red cherry fruits, very fine tannins and a long mineral finish.

Cantine Madonna della Grazie ~ Bauccio Aglianico / Basilicata - 2009 8 20

Southern Italy's most noble variety, aglianico, is prized for its longevity due its austere tannins - most prevalent as a young wine. With extended bottle maturation these tannins integrate into what is reminiscent of dark cassis cabernet-like fruit qualities, however devoid of leafy greenness.

☞ Pian dell'Orino ~ Brunello di Montalcino Sangiovese - Tuscany - 2011 22 54

The appellation of Brunello di Montalcino that surrounds the town of Montalcino south of Florence produces some of the most complex, long lived wines in Italy. By definition these Tuscan wines may only be assembled from sangiovese grapes. Although a new comer, Pian dell'Orino has already established credibility with excellent vineyard positioning and sustainable vineyard practices that yield one of the finest wines of the region.

Speri ~ Monte Sant'Urbano ~ Amarone della Valpolicella Corvinone, Rondinella, Molinara / Veneto - 2011 16 38

An iconic style from the Veneto - selected bunches are dried for up to 100 days resulting in the berries shedding over 40% of their water weight and intensifying sugar levels. Aged in oak casks this Amarone from Speri has a remarkable balance of sweet red fruit, dry tannins and spice.
